PROJECT NAME
Springhill Suites

Engineered for strength...
designed for beauty

The engineering and design flexibility of CornerStone® 100 played an integral role in helping the Hagerstown Springhill Suites project team maximize the hotel's property line, creating more guest parking stalls.

CornerStone's color units provided the structural support needed to level the property's natural slope, while their hollow core made them light weight and quick to install.

Skillfully mounted railing detail and outside corner units helped transmit the design's minimalist appeal. While the unique double capping elevation changing feature on top of the wall created an element of interest, enhancing the property's perimeter.
